Mission Statement

To provide warm, nurturing support to the nursing parent.
To provide comprehensive and current breastfeeding information.
To respond to the parent's contact in a timely manner.
To respect each parent's individual definition of breastfeeding success and help her to meet her personal goals.
To raise awareness in the wider community of the importance of breastfeeding.
And, most importantly, to foster confidence in each nursing parent that she has the innate ability to be a wonderful parent.

Professional Experience

Jan 2016 – present • Podcast Developer and Co-Host • Breastfeeding Outside the Box podcast
Develop and co-host a series of podcasts for parents aiming to support the nourishing and nurturing of babies in exceptional families - families who historically have not received the help and support they need and deserve. Exceptional families featured on the podcast include adoptive, intended, and foster families; gender and sexual minorities; families with special needs babies; parents who have had breast surgery; mothers with IGT or low milk production for other reasons; exclusively pumping mothers; and more.

April 2010 – present • Lactation Consultant in Private Practice • Sweet Pea Breastfeeding Support (owner)
Services include: history taking; assessment of mother's anatomy; assessment of baby's anatomy and physiology; observation of a feeding; calculation of milk intake; suck training; evaluation of breast pump and pumping session; education on breastfeeding technique and management. Provide help for: difficulty latching; painful nipples or breasts; milk under- or over-production; tongue-tie; overactive milk ejection; nursing strike; mastitis and blebs; thrush; induced lactation and relactation.

March 2002 – December 2015 • Volunteer breastfeeding counselor • La Leche League International Provide breastfeeding information and support via one-on-one counseling. Facilitate monthly support group meetings. Assist in the management of the local group. Train new volunteer breastfeeding counselors.
